

Phonewatch now has a new look:

15 January 2014

PhoneWatch is no longer part of eircom but now part of one of Europe's leading security specialists, Sector Alarm.

Sector Alarm are a Scandinavian based security company, founded in 1995. They have steadily grown their customer base since then, and now protect over 300,000 households with their home alarms & home security systems.

Now, as part of Sector Alarm, PhoneWatch has taken the opportunity to strengthen and modernise their brand identity and to align themselves more closely with the wider group.

The redesigned logo and branding, now black, red and white, depicts PhoneWatch's strength and steadfast reliability, whilst also complimenting their brand promise "Protection Powered by People".

Being part of PhoneWatch means that you're part of a network of people. PhoneWatch is protection powered by 24 hour monitoring and customer service, a network of highly skilled engineers and above all a superior service.

About the PhoneWatch Smart Security System

The PhoneWatch Smart Security System includes:

- Motion sensors with built-in cameras offering instant visual confirmation of a break in. Once activated, these sensors take images of the protected area which are then sent to the PhoneWatch Alarm Receiving Centre, who take the necessary action.
- A monitored verified smoke alarm sensor. If the smoke alarm activates, the sensors will take images, allowing the Alarm Receiving Centre verify whether there is a fire and take the necessary action.
- Unlimited system maintenance visits.
- A lifetime warranty.
- An alarm app - allowing for remote access via a smartphone.
- Break-in emergency repairs cover.
- 24 hour, round the clock customer support.

There is no need for a landline and all PhoneWatch alarm systems are wireless.
